
LONG TERM GOAL: Be able to work in the tech company is my childhood dream. Due to the short of resources, it keep me behind for awhile. But I am hard worker and learn to succeed it. And I have learned that long term goal are best achieved, when I break them into shorter goals. My short goals is to find a position that will put me in a forward moving company with solid performance and future projection. As part of my learning goal I want to add and continue to grow.

LEARNING RHYTHM: My learning rhythms is based on certain way which I have been implied it for a years and I still continous to do it. If I learn certain courses that allows a learner to master a topic in small step and I feel this approach is more effective, when learner need to absorb a lot of knowledge and information on certain level of education or skill.

HANDLING FRUSTRATING MOMENT: Frustration: It wind you up and can take so much out of you. Because it not only sucks energy but also distracts you and can steal quite a bit of time. But I always keep the frustration of learning can actually be positive and can give you a new idea or angle on things. Or it can give you the power to keep going just a little bit more until you reach your goal.